Christine Macfarlane is a Senior Associate Attorney in the Agoura Hills office. Christine is a firm advocate for prioritizing client communication and rapport, focusing her efforts on the successful resolution of cases in the most cost-effective and efficacious manner.

Christine was admitted to the State Bar of California in 1990. Since that time, her practice has focused on civil litigation and workers' compensation defense. Prior to joining Albert & Mackenzie, she worked as a workers' compensation defense attorney at law firms throughout California. Throughout her career, Christine has achieved remarkable milestones, including obtaining several Take Nothings findings, securing early settlements, adeptly navigating challenging cross-examinations with medical professionals, negotiating effectively with formidable opposing counsel, and pioneering innovative defense strategies.

Three words to best describe Christine are determined, adventurous, and compassionate. Her favorite aspect of her role lies in delving into facts, uncovering solutions, and collaborating with clients to expedite case resolutions.

Her motto in life is, "Live everyday like it is your last." As for her interests, she enjoys spending quality time with her family and dog, hiking, traveling, and expressing her creativity through floral decorating. Fun fact: Christine has climbed several mountains, including Mount Rainier and the volcano El Pico De Orizaba in Mexico.
