Madeline Landry is an Associate Attorney in the San Francisco office. She brings a distinctly personable style to her practice without compromising on tact and strategy.

Admitted to the State Bar of California in 2021, Madeline has honed her expertise in plaintiff-side employment litigation and workers' compensation defense. Prior to joining Albert and Mackenzie, she gained significant experience as a workers' compensation defense attorney throughout California, achieving notable milestones such as a sua sponte Thomas finding, numerous lien claim dismissals, and a record-setting number of case-in-chief settlements for a single client in a quarter.

Madeline grew up in Portland, Maine, and it was the captivating allure of Big Sur that prompted her to relocate from the east to the west coast. In her leisure time, she finds solace in yoga or immersing herself in the scenic vistas of Golden Gate Park or Land's End Lookout. Indoors, Madeline's pursuits involve reading and tending to her collection of plants.

If there were three words to best describe Madeline, it would be disciplined, bright, and whimsical. Inspired by the wisdom encapsulated in the African proverb, "If you want to go fast, go alone; if you want to go far, go together," Madeline demonstrates a commitment to actively collaborate with her clients, fostering a collective effort towards achieving successful claim resolution.
