Mario Jauregui is a Partner based out of Albert and Mackenzie's Encino office. He is firmly committed to achieving the best results for each client's specific needs.

In his workers' compensation defense career, Mario has obtained several fraud convictions, a Take Nothing, and successfully identified falsehoods and inapplicable concepts of the law in doctor reports. Prior to joining Albert and Mackenzie, Mario worked with the Los Angeles City Attorney as a volunteer Deputy Prosecutor. Following that, he was with a workers' compensation defense firm in West Hollywood.

Mario grew up in Inglewood, California. In his spare time, Mario enjoys spending time with his family and is interested in fitness. His favorite place in the world is nonetheless his home, followed by somewhere tropical.

Mario's first-ever job was at a local campus restaurant at the University of California Los Angeles during his freshman year of college. When it comes to sports, Mario is rooting for the Dodgers, Lakers, and Rams. If he had the opportunity to select any individual to be his mentor, it would be Barack Obama.

Visiting New York is number one on Mario's bucket list. He lives by the words, "Stay ready and you don't have to get ready." Fun fact: Mario is an Eagle Scout –he has been camping well over 100 times.
