EDUCATION

Rosanna Barajas is a Supervising Attorney in the Encino office. She joined Albert & Mackenzie in 2018 from Los Angeles, CA, where she worked as a workers' compensation defense attorney.

- Thomas Jefferson School of Law – Juris Doctor

Rosanna's journey in workers' compensation defense began in 2001 at a reputable law firm where she worked as a Legal Secretary while she continued her education in the evenings. Throughout her career, she has fostered meaningful relationships within the industry and gained extensive insights into effective strategies for navigating claims successfully.

Rosanna believes that effective communication is essential in strong legal representation. From the initial stages of a claim to the final resolution, clients can expect honest guidance, clear updates, and a responsive attorney. Rosanna strives to obtain the best settlements for her clients whenever feasible. Her proactive and tactical approach has resulted in countless claim settlements at the early stage.

Specialties: Defense of workers' compensation claims on behalf of employers, insurers, and third-party administrators
