Rosanna Barajas is a Supervising Attorney in the Encino office. She values collaborative client partnerships in crafting aggressive action plans for swift claim resolution. Rosanna strives to obtain the best settlements for her clients at an early stage whenever feasible. Her proactive and tactical approach has resulted in numerous successful claim settlements, even at the deposition stage.

Rosanna joined Albert & Mackenzie in 2015. Her journey in workers' compensation defense began in 2001 at a reputable law firm where she worked as a Legal Secretary while she continued her education in the evenings. With over 16 years of involvement in the workers' compensation industry, Rosanna has honed a deep understanding of its complexities and nuances. Throughout her career, she has fostered meaningful relationships within the industry and gained extensive insights into effective strategies for navigating claims successfully.

An ideal weekend for Rosanna comprises of family time and exploring the outdoors with her daughter.
